Pentagon Says It's Working On New Mystery Warplane

Contracts For Speedy Fighter Craft Canceled

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Pentagon said today it has canceled contracts for a new supersonic fighter plane but is working on a mystery aircraft with "even greater potentialities."

The canceled project had contemplated development of the world's fastest long-range interceptor.

News that it had been abandoned was only a few hours old when Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, assistant secretary of defense for research and development, told a Senate committee about the fresh undertaking.

Beyond saying that the new warplane has even greater possibilities than the shelved interceptor, Furnas gave no details.

Reasons For Cancellation
He told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee the interceptor contracts were canceled for a number of reasons, one of which was a determination that the plane would be heavier than had been anticipated. Another reason, he said, was lack of money for research.

The only reason given by an Air Force spokesman in an earlier announcement of the cancellation was lack of funds for research and development.

Northrop Aircraft, Hawthorne, Calif., and North American Aviation, Los Angeles, had held the contracts.

No Estimate Of Loss
The Air Force declined to make public figures on the value of the contracts or the cost of the cancellations. There was no immediate comment from the companies involved.

Although lack of research funds was mentioned as one reason for the cancellations, Furnas defended the adequacy of the $5,300,000,000 military research program which he heads.

The administration has approved the size of the program, but some members of Congress have criticized it, contending even more money should be poured into the effort.

Aerial H-Bomb Test Postponed For Eighth Time

USS MT. MCKINLEY, Off Bikini, Thursday, May 17 (AP)—Doubt arose today that the aerial H-bomb test would be made tomorrow over this mid-Pacific atomic proving ground. Today's scheduled drop, like seven others, was postponed because of the weather.

A brief mid-morning communique said the forecast for dawn Friday—midday Thursday in the United States—was "marginal."

The weather cycle is such that another postponement could mean the H-bomb might not be dropped for a week or 10 days.

The first American hydrogen bomb airdrop was a postponed Thursday for the eighth time, scarcely an hour and a half before the sunrise deadline. It was originally scheduled for May 8—May 7, U.S. time.

The B52 jet-powered bomber carrying the H-bomb for today's postponed test returned "without incident" to its Eniwetok base.

This presumably was the first time an American plane had landed with an H-bomb aboard.

Extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent radioactive fallout in the inhabited Marshall Islands.

Hurrah! No School Today

Third grade student Rhys Sherman smiles happily after reading notice that there would be no school because of a strike yesterday of 23 teachers at Avoca, Luzerne County, Pa. Teachers walked out because they are owed more than three months salaries. More than 500 students got a holiday because of the strike.

Eric Johnston Sees Agreement On Jordan River

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Eric Johnston said today the odds are 3-1 that Israel and the Arab states will agree to joint development of the Jordan River within the next three or four years.

"There is no substitute, as all who have studied the plan from both sides will tell you," he said in an interview.

Johnston, President Eisenhower's special representative on the Middle East, said he was reluctant in 1953 to undertake what looked like a nearly impossible job.

Odds "Thousand To One"
"I told the President the odds were a thousand to one against it," he recalled. "But now the situation has so changed that I believe the odds are 3-1 in favor of the Arabs and Israelis accepting our plan or something like it within the next three or four years."

Johnston has made five trips to the trouble Middle East, talking to both sides in an effort to get a joint development plan launched in the Jordan River Valley.

Plan Would Cost 210 Million

On his last visit, during the past fall, he was able to announce technical agreement. But political considerations—Israel and the Arabs still are officially at war—caused the Arabs to delay a final decision.

As Johnston put it at the time: "We are on the one-inch line but someone has called time out."

The U. S.-backed Johnston plan would cost about 210 million dollars. The United Nations would put up about 54 millions, the United States the rest.

Senate Group Backs Big Farm Money Bill

WASHINGTON, MAY 16 (AP)—A Senate Appropriations subcommittee approved today a record-breaking farm money bill which would provide more than two billion dollars for the Agriculture Department and its agencies in fiscal 1957.

Approval was voted at an executive session. Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) told reporters afterwards the subcommittee accepted most of the increases voted by the House Monday and added some of its own.

Among the Senate boosts was a 25-million-dollar increase in agricultural conservation payments to farmers this year under existing programs.

Soil Bank Action Near
This was a forerunner to the much larger soil bank payments which may begin next year and which may run to as much as $1,200,000,000 annually.

A bill setting up the soil bank program and containing other new farm legislation was waiting today to be called up on the Senate floor.

The Senate did not reach the bill today, but was slated to take it up tomorrow.

Sens. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Holland (D-Fla.) said they would make a last-ditch effort to reshape the bill to meet President Eisenhower's specifications.

Ike Vetoes One Bill
They will concentrate on eliminating or modifying a section providing for mandatory higher price supports for feed grains and corn grown outside the commercial corn belt. The feed grains include rice, oats, barley and grain sorghums.

Eisenhower vetoed one farm bill last month, principally because it contained provisions for high, rigid price supports.

The money bill okayed by the appropriations subcommittee today goes before the full committee Friday. It covers operations during the 12 months beginning July 1.

Ike Now Has Enough Renomination Votes
WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower won enough support in Nebraska's presidential primary yesterday to assure him of a second term nomination at the Republican National Convention next August.

Seventeen of the 18 Republican delegates chosen or leading in the Nebraska vote said in a pre-primary poll that they support Eisenhower.

Although his renomination has been a foregone conclusion, this edged the President's total in pledged and publicly committed delegates up to 666—more than a convention majority.

Bomb In Car Of Theft Case Witness Fails To Explode

WINTER PARK, Fla., May 16 (AP)—A key witness in two auto theft cases narrowly escaped death today when dynamite wired to his automobile failed to explode.

Had the plot succeeded, Walter T. Summers, 42-year-old motor exchange firm operator, and two of his four children—Jerry, 14, and Vicki, 10—might have been killed.

Sheriff Dave Starr said six sticks of dynamite were wired to the ignition under the hood on the driver's side of the vehicle.

Summers said the auto theft case "undoubtedly was involved in the attempt on my life."

In Birmingham, Ala., Sheriff Holt McDowell said Summers had been called as a witness in two cases against James Thomas Ayers, Gardendale, Ala., who is under four indictments in state court for automobile theft. Deputy Solicitor E. C. Watson Jr. said Summers is a principal witness, that he unknowingly purchased stolen vehicles from Ayers, a 39-year-old chicken farmer.

Summers said his car usually started immediately and he became curious over its failure to start properly when he and the two children entered it about 7:30 a.m. He said he looked under the hood and found the dynamite. He called to the children to jump out and then summoned police.

Summers said the car had been parked on the driveway, 15 feet from his home. Neither he nor his wife had heard any suspicious noises after parking it there at 10:30 p.m.

Saudi Arabia Will Get More U.S. Munitions

Shipment Of Ammo, Spare Parts Being Loaded Aboard Ship

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Defense Department confirmed today it is sending Saudi Arabia another shipment of military goods. It added that sale of the equipment, mainly ammunition and spare parts, was arranged months ago.

While the Pentagon wouldn't disclose the value of the shipment, the State Department said less than a million dollars was involved.

Shipment Being Loaded

A Pentagon spokesman told of the shipment when asked about a New York Post story that military cargo for Saudi Arabia was being loaded aboard the 6,714-ton freighter Monterey at a North Carolina port.

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) called the shipment "unabashed appeasement" and "an affront to the American people." He demanded the "fullest possible inquiry" into what he termed "this latest example of muddleheadedness in our Middle Eastern policy."

Rep. Celler (D-NY), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the shipment shows the United States is "inviting disaster and bankrupting our moral leadership."

Officials said the sale to the Arab country was originally approved last Aug. 25, along with a controversial order for 18 M41 Walker Bulldog light tanks. Shipment of the tanks last February raised an international furor.

Paid For Last November

As was the case with the tank order, this latest shipment was paid for on Nov. 26, officials said.

A State Department press officer, Lincoln White, said the items being loaded aboard the Monterey at Sunny Point, N.C., do not include any major weapons such as tanks or jet planes.

White said the cargo was covered in a State Department announcement last February that 16 million dollars worth of arms orders from the Middle East had been approved. These included about seven million dollars worth from Saudi Arabia.

Princess Tells Of Romania Red Go-Home Drive

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Princess Ileana of Romania testified today that "a Communist bishop" sent her by the Reds to persuade Romanians in this country to return home.

She also told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that members of the Romanian European Legation here have tried to persuade Romanians to go back to their Communist-ruled homeland.

Princess Ileana, slim, brunette daughter of former Queen Marie and sister of ex-King Carol, said letters from relatives in Romania also are used as part of the go-home campaign.

Princess Ileana, now living in Newton, Mass., was accompanied to the hearing by her husband, Dr. Stephan Izsarescu. She came to this country in 1950.

She was questioned as part of an inquiry into the redecoration campaign of Russia and her satellites—pointed up recently by the sudden return home of five Soviet seamen who had obtained sanctuary in this country.

Princess Ileana testified that 15 Romanians left last week from Detroit to return to Romania and 19 more are leaving next week.

One Dead, Another Missing In B47 Crash

NEWLYN, England, May 16 (AP)—An American B47 Stratofortress bomber caught fire and crashed in the Atlantic today 12 miles off Land's End.

One crewman parachuted 34,000 feet and was rescued with only bruises on one arm. A second airman is missing. The body of the third member of the crew was recovered from the sea.

The rescued airman, Lt. William F. Bair of El Paso, Tex., was navigator of the six-jet atom bomber. He said the plane's skipper gave orders to parachute after one of the engines blazed up.

Bair jumped and was picked up by the crew of a French trawler as he was trying to free his legs from the shrouds of his parachute.

U.S. Senate Aspirant Charged With Selling Influence To Felons

ACCUSED—Mark Catlin, Jr., (above), candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senate from Wisconsin, yesterday was accused by the Wisconsin State Board of Bar Commissioners of accepting money from prison inmates. Shortly after the charges were made public, Catlin's father collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Jet That Struck Convent Sent Up On False Alarm

OTTAWA, May 16 (AP)—The Defense Ministry today blamed a false alarm for sending up the jet plane that crashed into a nuns' rest home and killed 15 persons.

Ralph Campney, minister of defense, said the plane was one of two CF100 jets ordered to take off last night to intercept a plane spotted by radar but not immediately identified. Before the interception was carried through, the "enemy" plane was identified through flight plans as an air force transport returning from the arctic.

No Indication Of Trouble
The jets met the transport at 7,000 feet. They then went up to 33,000 feet to practice interception tactics—a normal procedure, the defense minister explained, in order to give pilots practice and to use up excess fuel that might endanger a safe landing.

Campney said the plane that fell had given no indication of trouble. "All evidence points to the likelihood it descended in a steep dive from a very high altitude," he said.

It dove into the rest home of the Grey Nuns of the Cross carrying its load of rockets. This was shortly after 10 p.m. Tuesday. Of those killed, 11 were Roman Catholic sisters.

Ruins Searched

Today airmen, firemen and police went into the ruins of the three-story brick building on the Ottawa River, seven miles east of this city, for missing bodies and clues to the cause of the crash.

The plane slammed into the rest home like a guided missile—though a course a few yards on either side would have landed it in open fields—and exploded with a roar heard 15 miles away. Part of that roar was the detonation of its rockets, the main armament.

Visiting Indonesia Chief Delights Capital Crowds

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Indonesia's President Soekarno delighted Washington today by halting his official entourage to mingle with the crowds, pat babies and kiss old ladies.

The President, driving from Washington's airport to the White House in company with Vice President Nixon, called a halt on his historic Pennsylvania avenue. He suddenly dismounted from his swank convertible to go up to the crowd lining the sidewalk.

He shook hands with everybody in reach for about 10 minutes. Dignitaries poised to give him the key to the city, waited patiently at a nearby reviewing stand in front of the District of Columbia building.

The President, wearing a smart khaki uniform and brandishing a swagger stick, brought his 11-year-old son, Guntur, up to the Father Of Accused Wis. GOP Legislator Collapses And Dies

MADISON, Wis., May 16 (AP)—State Assembly Speaker Mark Catlin Jr., a Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate nomination, today was accused of accepting at least $5,725 from prison inmates to use his political influence to win their release.

Shortly after the charges were made public by the Wisconsin Supreme Court, Catlin's father, a former state assemblyman and Olympic athlete, collapsed and died of a heart attack at Appleton.

Catlin said his father "couldn't possibly have known about the charges" before he died.

Catlin, 46-year-old speaker of the State Assembly in 1955 and an attorney, termed the accusations by the Wisconsin State Board of Bar Commissioners "absolutely false."

Catlin is a candidate for the GOP nomination for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Alexander Wiley, who is circulating nomination papers although he hasn't formally announced his intentions.

Father Dies In Parking Lot

Catlin learned of his father's death at about the same time the state's highest tribunal released the complaint against him.

The elder Catlin, 74, collapsed in a parking lot in Appleton, about 120 miles northeast of Madison, while on his way to the law office he shared with his son. He was dead on arrival at an Appleton hospital.

The board filed four charges against the younger Catlin—still technically speaker of the lower house even though it is in adjournment—alleging that he accepted $5,725 from four inmates at Wau-pun State Prison and unspecified sums from five others prisoners or their families to use his influence to gain their freedom.

None Of Convicts Released

The board said that none of the prisoners was released due to Catlin's alleged efforts in their behalf.

The four inmates named in the complaint were Louis Fazio, and John and Jerome Mandella, each sentenced in 1946 from Kenosha to life for murder; and Americo de Pietto, sentenced in 1954 from Kenosha to from 1 to 10 years for assault with intent to rob.

Gov. Walter Kohler, who recently returned from H-bomb tests in the Pacific, said he ordered an investigation of Catlin's conduct about two months ago after his pardon counsel, Edwin M. Wilkie, sifted rumors making the rounds of the state prison. Kohler, like Catlin, is a Republican.

1938 Miss America Puzzler For Judge

LOS ANGELES, May 16 (AP)—Superior Court Judge Leon T. David today was faced with the puzzler—Who was Miss America of 1938?

Mrs. Marilyn Mezcke Hume, now married to a Miami Airlines pilot, won the Atlantic City pageant in 1938. Claire James was runner-up, but withdrew in a huff over the selections. She then was crowned Miss America at a rump convention of dissenters from the Atlantic City pageant.

Miss James recently has appeared in television commercials as Miss America, apparently the cause for the legal action.

Mrs. Hume wants Miss James enjoined from using "Miss America of 1938" in endorsing a cosmetic. She also wants $110,000 damages.

The jurist ordered Miss James' attorney to answer the complaint within 20 days.

Exchange Of Oil Drill Data With Reds Forbidden

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Commerce Department today turned down an American firm's plan to swap information with the Russians on drill bits used in oil wells.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks based the decision on national security. He said the Russians stood to gain more than they would give.

The department did not identify the firm in its formal announcement but a spokesman confirmed speculation by reporters that it was Dresser Industries, Inc., of Dallas, Tex.

The firm had asked for a license to send the Russians technical data on "the design, production, assembly and operation of rotary rock drill bits."

In return it was to get Russian data on the assembly of a Russian-designed turbo drill, and also up to 40 turbo drills of various sizes and types.

"We rejected this application primarily because we wish to avoid any action which might serve to weaken the voluntary system of international strategic controls," Weeks said.

Two Missing Bandits Fall Into FBI Net

Pair Captured In Boston Apartment Without Struggle

BOSTON, May 16 (AP)—FBI agents in a swift two-minute operation forced their way into a Dorchester district apartment tonight and arrested two missing Brink's robbers—the last of 11 men allegedly involved in the fabulous $1,218,211 robbery.

The FBI said that James Ignatius Faherty, 44, and Thomas Francis Richardson, 48, both considered dangerous, were taken without a struggle.

Three loaded guns were found in the apartment, but the FBI moved so speedily, the gunmen were unable to reach the weapons before they were seized.

The FBI said some coin was found in the apartment but would not say how much or whether it was Brink's money. As four 20x14-inch cartons were being taken into the Federal Building, one of the boxes tipped and coins rolled on the floor. It appeared to be part of the money seized in the apartment.

Two Men Arraigned

Faherty and Richardson were arraigned shortly after their arrest before U.S. Commissioner Francis H. Farrell.

Farrell granted U. S. Atty. Anthony Julian's request that a federal complaint of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution be dropped, that federal charges of robbery be held in abeyance, and that the men be turned over to Suffolk County Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne for prosecution in county court.

The men were manacled and taken to the Suffolk County Court House for questioning by Byrne, members of his staff, and Police Capt. Francis Wilson, who directed the state's investigation of the robbery.

D.A.'s Office Provides Tip

Police sources said that the tip that led to the arrest of the pair apparently came from the office of the district attorney who earlier in the week was reported to have received information on the whereabouts of the two ex-convicts from an anonymous source.

Faherty and Richardson had been missing since the Suffolk County grand jury returned indictments against 11 men last January.

Eight others are in custody awaiting trial in connection with the fabulous $1,218,211 robbery of Jan. 17, 1950. One died before the indictments were returned.

Jeanne Crain Says Husband Beat Her

LOS ANGELES, May 16 (AP)—Actress Jeanne Crain today charged her estranged husband with non-support; with beating her until she was unconscious; threatening to disfigure her and with "humiliating" relationships with other women.

The red-haired beauty filed an amended complaint to her divorce action of last month. It was in answer to a complaint of manufacturer Paul Brinkman that his wife's original action was "uncertain, unintelligible and ambiguous."

Mollet Defends U.S. In Opening Moscow Talks

MOSCOW, May 16 (AP)—French sources reported tonight that Nikita S. Khrushchev, in opening talks here with French Premier Guy Mollet, accused Americans of following an obstructive policy on the German and disarmament questions.

The sources said Mollet told the Communist party chief that he—Khrushchev—misunderstood U. S. aims.

They said Mollet declared he knew the U. S. leaders personally, including President Eisenhower, and he knew they were working for peace.

The exchange took place in the morning at the Kremlin. Later at a luncheon given by Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Mollet urged the destruction of barriers preventing the free flow of information between East and West.

Mollet was guest of honor to night at a performance of "Swan Lake" at the Bolshoi Theater.

Khrushchev sat with Mollet in the state box during the first act. Diplomats noted Mollet moved off alone and sat in a stage loge thereafter.

Tiny Broadcaster Weighs 4 Ounces

CINCINNATI, May 16 (AP)—Radio station WKRC today laid claim to the world's smallest broadcasting station—a unit weighing only four ounces and smaller than a package of cigarettes. It gives good vocal broadcast quality at 100 to 150 feet.

George Waslo, chief engineer for the Cincinnati 5,000-watt station, built the miniature unit at a cash outlay of $40, he said.

It is .006-watt, or a 6-milliwatt outfit. The power required to operate the transistor is 20 times less than it takes to light a battery flashlight.

Story Of $2,000,000 Bank Embezzlement Is Read To Minnie Mangum Jury

NORFOLK, Va., May 16 (AP)—A jury listened today to a statement allegedly signed by accused embezzler Minnie Mangum which related a fantastic story of solo stealing of two million dollars from her employers.

The statement, read by bank examiner William A. Patton, said the 52-year-old defendant, long noted for her generosity to family and friends, began taking money 20 years ago from Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn.

Patton said Miss Mangum made the statement and signed it Dec. 22, six days after a surprise audit uncovered defalcations the state charges were found ultimately to total almost three million dollars.

Miss Mangum pleaded innocent when she was arraigned today in Corporation Court in the first of a series of trials growing out of the shortages that toppled Commonwealth into financial ruin.

Today's trial was on an indictment alleging Miss Mangum lied to the Virginia Corporation Commission about Commonwealth's liabilities and assets in 1946. She will be tried later on embezzlement and grand larceny indictments.

Patton testified Miss Mangum, who was assistant secretary-treasurer of Commonwealth, told him and other examiners she gave the money she stole to relatives and friends.

The statement Patton read to the jury said no one else was involved in the embezzlement and the recipients of Miss Mangum's gifts did not know the money had been stolen.

The statement said the defendant wished to make restitution insofar as she could and promised to help get back money and property she had given away. And she was willing to assign to Commonwealth a half dozen houses and several lots she owned, together with some "atomic energy stock" she believed to be worth about $5,000.

Dr. Spears, Figure In Court Suits, Dies

DENVER, May 16 (AP)—Dr. Leo L. Spears, 62, a figure of controversy in the operation of his Spears Chiropractic Hospital, died today after a heart attack.

He was the chief figure in several court suits in which he sought damages totaling nearly 36 million dollars.

He never has been awarded a cent from any of the suits although one still is pending before the Colorado Supreme Court.

73 B47s Thunder Over Washington

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The greatest parade of jet bombers ever assembled in the United States—73 six-engine B47s—thundered across the nation's capital late today.

The flight was a rehearsal for an Armed Forces Day show next Saturday and Sunday in which 216 B47s, with other jet bombers and fighters, will take part.

Ike's Request Halved

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted today to cut in half President Eisenhower's request for authority to allocate 300 million dollars in foreign aid funds as he thinks best.

Acting on two separate items in this category, the group voted to authorize a total of 150 millions in "flexible" funds—the amount presently provided.

Postal Hike Endorsed

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The House Post Office Committee was reported to have given tentative approval today to a progressive increase in second-class postal rates for newspapers and magazines. The hike would average 75 per cent at the end of five years.

No Farm Revolt Indicated As Ike Wins Neb. Test

OMAHA, May 16 (AP)—If farmers in drought-disturbed Nebraska are rebelling against administration agricultural policies, they failed to give the signal in the state's primary election yesterday.

A vote tallying cleanup today established President Eisenhower firmly as a near 2-1 winner over Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) in presidential preference balloting.

Strictly speaking, Eisenhower and Kefauver were not running against each other. Each was opposed on his own party's ballot, making each a sort of default winner.

The President, in outdrawing Kefauver in a style befitting this predominantly Republican state, also picked up 17 of the state's 18 full-vote GOP convention delegates. Kefauver could claim only five of the 12 Democratic delegates named, with the remaining seven still undeclared.

Presidential preference results are not binding on the delegates, who are unpledged. Most candidates make known their preferences, however.

Apathy, rather than revolt, appeared the standout election feature.

Far less than 200,000 voters, out of some 800,000 eligible, turned out. Such primary election sluggishness has been witnessed only once in the last 36 years, and that below-200,000 turnout came in the war year of 1944.

Ike Hails Dedication Of Research Center

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower hailed the dedication of a 100-million-dollar industrial research center today as a symbol of the American frontier spirit.

With President Soekarno of Indonesia sitting beside him, the President voiced hope that the technical progress made at the new General Motors center in Warren, Mich., will be shared with other nations and will contribute to "broader freedom" and "more rewarding lives" throughout the world.

Eisenhower spoke on a closed circuit television network to 25,000 GM officials, employees and guests in 62 U.S. and Canadian cities in which the corporation has plants.

Two Young Women Fugitives Captured

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—Beverly Wilson, 20, and Patricia Ann Linton, 17, Baltimore women who escaped from the State Reformatory for Women at Jessup Monday night, were recaptured today.

A passerby saw the young women asleep in a Northwest Baltimore garage, recognized them from their pictures, and locked them in the garage until officers arrived.

The Wilson woman was serving an 8-year term for being an accessory in the $30,000 holdup of a Canton bank in 1954. Miss Linton was serving not more than two years for using a fake charge-a-plate in a department store.

The escapees were inmates of the same cottage at the institution. They fled after receiving permission to visit another cottage to inspect a garden.

Seven Paratroopers Hurt In Mass Jump

FT. SILL, Okla., May 16 (AP)—Seven paratroopers were injured—one seriously—during a demonstration drop before students of the Artillery and Guided Missile School here today.

Seriously hurt was Pvt. Oscar R. Lozano of Hidalgo, Mexico. Lozano was said to have suffered a broken back when a shroud line fouled. Witnesses said Lozano plunged to the ground in almost a free fall. He is expected to live.

Senators Given Little Publicity In Capitol Book

WASHINGTON, May 16 (P)—Yes Virginia, there is a U. S. Senate. It's still on the job, talking, arguing, passing laws.

You may need this reassurance if you have just latched on to that fancy new government publication: "The Capitol in Story and Pictures."

It's 80 pages, magazine-sized, and a real slick job.

Wonderful pictures of the Capitol in its early days, historic shots of presidential inaugurations, of presidents and foreign bigwigs addressing joint sessions of Congress in the House chamber.

Possibly a dozen pictures in which you may recognize Sam Rayburn, who has been speaker of the House longer than any man in history. Another half dozen in which you can spot his counterpart, Joe Martin, speaker when the Republicans are at bat.

Fine shots of 41 of the 47 men who have become speakers. Wonderfully detailed pictures of House committees in action, of the Library of Congress.

There even is a splendid two-column picture of an old prospector, F. G. Gimlet, who comes East occasionally to give Congress a piece of his mind.

But nowhere in all these 80 pages is there a picture identifying a senator by name. Only a discerning eye can pick out any senators at all, lurking like fugitives in the background.

Actually, Virginia, this was no attempt to slight senators. Their absence is a further illustration of how Congress works, with the House and Senate each serenely going its own way and acting, publicly as if the other body didn't exist.

This is a House publication, dreamed up and put together by House members, and its chief dreamer, Rep. Frank Ikard (D-Tex.), explained today:

"I wouldn't presume to try to put senators in a House publication. You know how it is around here. Of course, I will say I hope that the senators like it so well they'll decide to join us so the magazine will be complete."

Even without senators, "The Capitol in Story and Pictures" is a good book, and anybody who wants one can get it by sending 50 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

Ikard long has had the idea that a representative ought to have something to hand visitors that would show what goes on in the old legislative shop.

Remains Of Long-Dead Pope Are 'Recognized'

VATICAN CITY, May 16 (P)—The remains of Pope Innocent XI, undisturbed for 254 years, were "recognized" yesterday in another step of the long process leading to his beatification.

The ceremony was held behind the closed doors of St. Peter's basilica.

The three coffins that held the remains—one of cypress, one of lead and the final one of elm—had been placed in one of the basilica's huge pillars 12 years after the pontiff's death Aug. 12, 1689.

Beatification is now expected to take place next month.

Marine Charged With Assaulting 16-Year-Old Girl

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—A 16-year-old Michigan girl who came here for a sightseeing tour with her high school senior class was criminally assaulted early today after going on a late date.

Marine Pvt. George Horan, 20, was charged with rape.

The Reese, Mich. High School senior class—20 girls and 16 boys—arrived yesterday.

Police Lt. John L. Sullivan gave this account:

Shortly before 10 p.m. five girls went to a restaurant across the street from their hotel for sandwiches. They met five Marines and agreed to take a ride.

All 10 got into a 1948 club coupe and drove to another sandwich shop. All five couples sat in booths for a while. Later, some of the couples left. Before the 16-year-old girl was assaulted she was last seen by her classmates at about 1:30 a.m. with her Marine date.

Two of the girls returned about 2 a.m. to the hotel. An hour later, the girl staggered into the hotel.

The house detective summoned police. A check with Mrs. Eva J. Hill, one of the Michigan group's chaperones, disclosed that two of the girls had not yet returned to the hotel.

A radio lookout was flashed and a police cruiser found the car and the two couples a couple of miles from the hotel.

Horan was arrested upon his return today to the Quantico (Va.) Marine barracks about 50 miles from Washington.

The assaulted girl was reported in a poor condition at a hospital.

Salary Board's Approval Of Pay Hikes Under Fire

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—Rate legislators today described recent salary increases approved by the Standard Salary Board as "an invitation to large percentage cuts."

The Budget and Finance Committee of the Legislature called on members of the salary board to explain its approval of a $3,500 raise for the director of public welfare, a $1,000 raise for the governor's assistant, and increased pay for medical personnel in mental hospitals.

Sen. Turnbull (D-Baltimore County) noted that the raises granted to employees in Mental Hygiene and Health Departments had to be absorbed in the budgets of those departments. Yet, he recalled, the heads of both those departments told the Legislature that their budgets were so tight that no cuts were possible without impairing essential services.

"Are we being deliberately and intentionally bypassed?" Turnbull asked. "I mean to find out, and if we are I will try to do something about it."

He said that departments which claim tight budgets in the Legislature, yet find money for salary increases later, "are issuing an invitation to large percentage cuts" when the Legislature sets the next budget.

Del. Boone (D-Baltimore County) noted that a $66,000 item appropriated by the Legislature for research and wonder drugs would be used by the Department of Health.

Health.

Panty Raid Leaders Sought At U. Of Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 16 (AP)—University of Maryland officials today sought the ringleaders of last night's panty raids.

Dean of Men Geary Epley said 25 to 50 persons took part in the raids on dormitories and sorority houses as another 150 watched.

Some coeds cooperated and shouted encouragement, from windows.

The raiders reportedly got a goodly number of trophies.

Dean Epley wasn't impressed. He criticized the raiders and the post-publicity given such forays.

He said he felt the raids were the work of "exhibitionists" who do not have "enough gumption to take up sports or other campus activities."

"Every time these things are written up something like this follows," he referred to recent stories of raids at other colleges.

Dismissal Of Integration Suit Asked

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—The St. Mary's County school board today asked the Federal Court to dismiss action designed to enforce immediate integration in the Southern Maryland county's school system.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) brought civil suit against the school board last March 16 to force desegregation of St. Mary's public schools.

The dismissal motion contended that the NAACP in its civil suit failed to show that Negro children in the county "have suffered or are threatened with irreparable injury."

Also, the motion said, the NAACP's suit should be thrown out because it deals with a state matter and the "plaintiffs have a clear, adequate and complete remedy at law in the courts of the state of Maryland."

The motion asserted that the action by the NAACP was "prematurely brought because it does not appear that desegregation within the public schools of St. Mary's County will not be accomplished within a reasonable time."

Society Sends $50 To Africa

Announcements of the district meeting, school of missions and installation of officers were made at the meeting of the WSCS Circles of Trinity Methodist Church Tuesday evening at the church. Mrs. Arie Wagner presided. The district meeting is to be held Friday at LaVale church, beginning at 10 a.m. The school of missions will be at Western Maryland College in July and officers are to be installed May 27.

A letter from William Harvey, missionary in the Belgian Congo, was read and the society voted to send $50 to help construct a new dormitory for boys at the mission. Miss Eleanor Peters, leader of the Margaret Brown Circle, was devotional leader. Her topic was "We will seek to grow as good citizens by using good literature," and read a poem, "The Bridge Builders." Mrs. Bessie Miller, leader of the Catherine Eye Circle, led in prayer; and Mrs. Rebecca Wagner, leader of the Virginia Neel Circle, read the Scripture. The program also included the singing of "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me" and "Take Time To Be Holy," by the group.

The next meeting will be June 18 at the parsonage.

Thirty-five years ago there were no international airlines.

new safe All-in-One capsule discovery for easy reducing science now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

Do you like sweets, candy, cake, butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but now, right now, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why...

counteracts hunger
Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL THE RECOGNIZED proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories, yet expands when it absorbs water, thereby helping give the feeling of a full contented stomach. In fact, these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

fat goes fast
You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

Many Firms To Transport Glass Here

An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner's report has recommended that the commission grant six additional trucking companies permission to serve the North Branch plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Three local trucking firms already have authority under the ICC to haul to and from the plant. —Morris Motor Express, Cumberland Motor Express and Charlton Brothers. Other lines also have authority on various routes.

Filing application and recommended to be allowed to haul to the plant from their presently assigned ICC routes are:

Chaney Transportation Company, Cumberland; Schreiber Trucking Company of Pittsburgh; Mid-States Freight Lines Inc., Chicago; Transamerican, Detroit; Motor Cargo, Inc., Akron, and the Blue Ridge Transfer Company, Galax, Va.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will meet some time after June 4 to review the examiner's report which was made following a hearing in Washington last month.

The hearing, which had counsel appearing for both the applicants and their opponents, brought out a number of interesting facts about the new plant.

Schreiber has been hauling glass for Pittsburgh Plate since 1933 and the company's attorney's declared that if it gets authority to come into Cumberland it will construct a terminal here.

It was brought out that half of all the glass manufactured here will be shipped by rail (Pennsylvania Railroad, Western Maryland Railway and the B&O Railroad).

The plate glass will be shipped in crates weighing 3,800 pounds and truckers must haul them in open-top trailers.

Schreiber seeks to serve Cumberland as an off-route point with its authorized operations between Pittsburgh and Baltimore, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey.

Chaney has general commodity rights between Cumberland and part of New York State, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, and wants to haul plate glass to those points, and return with supplies for the plant. Chaney was represented by W. Earle Cobey.

Blue Ridge wants to haul glass to mirror factories in Galax, High Point, N. C., Mt. Airy, N. C., and Thomasville, N. C.

Motor Cargo wants a connection with Cumberland over Route 220 from Bedford and authority to operate on Route 40 between Cumberland and Hancock.

Pittsburgh Plate supported all the applications but Chaney's.

Opposing all six applicants were the Western Maryland, B&O, and Pennsylvania railroads, plus Cumberland Motor Express, Morris Motor Express and Charlton Brothers.

Accelerated Transport-Pony Express, opposed Transamerican, Chaney and Schreiber.

Riss and Company opposed Schreiber, Mid-States and Motor Cargo.

M&M Transportation Company opposed Chaney and Mid States. Novick Transfer Company opposed Transamerican.

Ward Trucking Company opposed Chaney, Transamerican and Motor Cargo.

Roy Stone Transportation Corporation and Virginia Carolina Freight Lines opposed Blue Ridge.

The United States has more than 454 million acres under cultivation—the largest area of any country in the world.

Allspice is the name given to the dry, unripe berry of the pimento, a small evergreen tree.

Everstine Heads Ridgeley Lions

Aden L. Everstine has been elected president of the Ridgeley Lions Club, succeeding William Knieriem.

Everstine's election marks the third time he has held the club's top office. Other officers named include:

Perry Davis, first vice president; Leon Hammond, second vice president; Paul Fultz, third vice president; Boyd Turner, Lion tamer; Eston Turner, tail twister; Howard Rhodes, reelected secretary; and Edgar B. Spiker, treasurer. Directors are Richard Hott, M. M. Heiskell, Clarence Hartman and Lloyd Coffman.

New officers will be installed June 25 at a site to be determined. A committee to arrange for the event is headed by Davis, assisted by Coffman, Turner, Everstine, Michael Sirna and Hartman.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, May 29, at 7 p. m. at Perabee Lounge. No dinner will be served.

The club announced it has purchased eight waste receptacles which will be presented to the Town of Ridgeley and placed at various locations on the town's streets. They will carry the slogan "Help Keep Our Town Clean" and the Lions Club emblem.

Plans were also revealed for sending two members of the Junior Class of Ridgeley High School to the Leadership Training Course at Camp Horseshoe, Parsons, the week of June 10-16.

Two Youths Receive Prison Sentences For Armed Holdup At Municipal Airport

Two 18-year-old Wiley Ford youths after they entered pleas of guilty to grand larceny and assault on George Walker, Somerset, Pa.

Sentenced were Raymond Comer and Charles Wayne Grogg, both of Wiley Ford, while a 17-year-old Cumberland youth was ordered held in Mineral County Jail pending an investigation.

Judge Ernest A. See yesterday in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser sentenced the trio, armed with a gun, knife and club, robbed Walker of $8.85 as he was parked at the local airport with a girl friend.

In deferring sentence on the local boy, Judge See said evidence presented in the case revealed the Cumberland youth was not armed, whereas Comer and Grogg were carrying weapons.

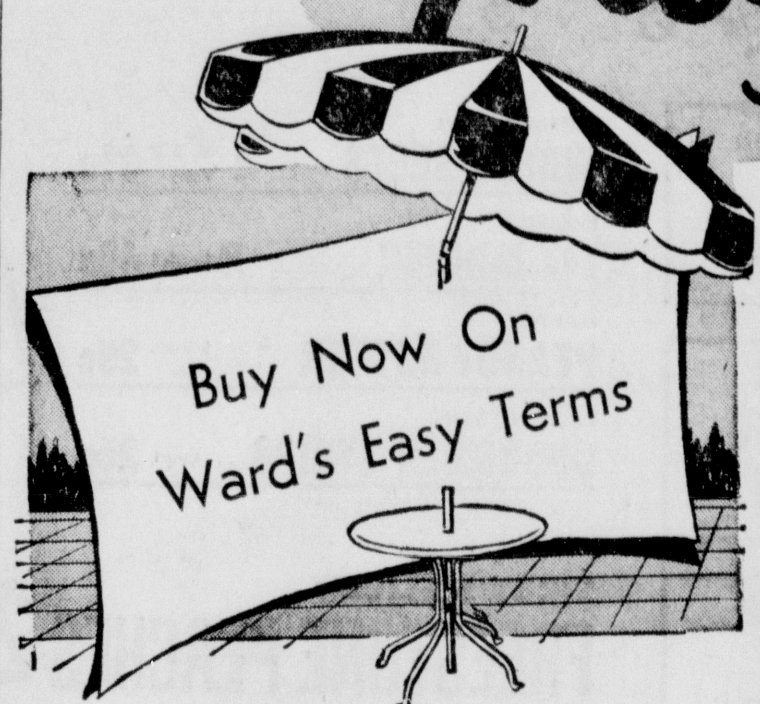

Judge See ordered the court to contact the Cumberland boy's mother for the purpose of bringing her to court to discuss her son's background. Cumberland police worked hand-in-hand with West Virginia authorities in arresting the trio who admitted staging the holdup and later signed statements before Detective

Joseph Stutcher of the Cumberland Police Department. After the boys entered guilty pleas yesterday to grand larceny, Judge See agreed to set aside the armed robbery charge.

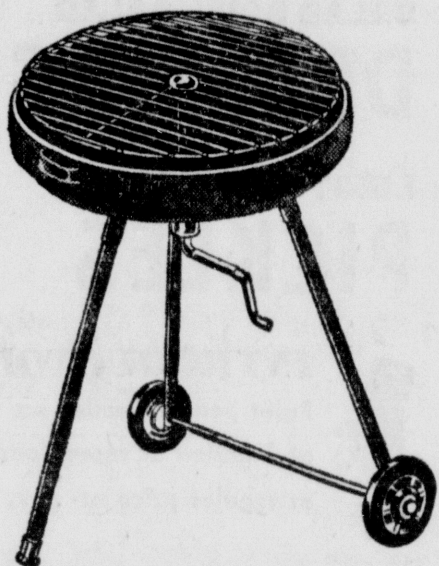

As they approached Walker's automobile they ordered the Somerset man to hand over his wallet, and warned him not to drive off for a half-hour. After robbing Walker, the trio attempted to hold up five other men parked in the vicinity of the airport.

Potomac Scout Council Opens Season With Camporee Friday At Deep Creek

PIEDMONT — Potomac Scout Council will hold a camporee Friday through Sunday, May 18-20, at Camp Paradise on Deep Creek Lake. It will be the first one held in the Deep Creek Lake District, and their Scouters, under the leadership of District Chairman J. J. Atwell and C&A chairman Fred Tichnell who are going all out to make it a real experience. Last year's attendance record of 535 may be broken.

It will be a "Dress Up" Camporee with all patrols doing their very best camping. The patrols and troops are requested to bring flags, so the camporee may be as colorful as possible.

The troops will arrive Friday evening (but not before 5 o'clock), or Saturday morning. The closing ceremony will be held just after the noon meal on Sunday and patrols should all remain until that time. Arrangements have been made for religious services.

Each patrol will be assigned a campsite 50 feet square. The first one arriving will be assigned to site No. 1 etc. If all patrols from a troop desire to camp side by side, it will be necessary that they register at the same time.

A separate area will be established for Explorers in Posts. Crews of Explorers from troops may camp in either the troop or explorer area. Explorers who are members of patrols may camp with their patrol. All troops are requested to have an adult leader with them during the entire camporee and there will be no exceptions to this rule.

All patrols with four or more scouts or explorers in attendance at the camporee will receive a yellow "Participating" ribbon. In addition, troops making good use of their equipment, keeping their camp sites clean, participating in camporee events, living the scout oath and law etc. will receive Blue ribbons. Judging will be done weather permits, at definitely scheduled times but scouts are not to be at the water front at any other times. Space is available for softball and other games on a troop basis.

A campfire will be conducted on Saturday night. Troops are encouraged to have a stunt for the campfire program. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

From Keyser and Tri-Towns area those attending should take Route 38 from Bloomington to Swanton and Deer Park toward Deep Creek and follow signs to Camporee.

Aliens And Pensions Raise A Question

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, plugging hard to keep additional aliens from qualifying for social security benefits, has submitted some interesting figures. Uncle Sam is paying out $27 million a year in benefits to aliens now living abroad.

Some of these checks go to Communist Yugoslavia. Others, drawn for aliens in 10 other Communist countries, are being held in a trust fund but will presumably be paid out when U. S. relations with those countries improve.

The bulk of the total goes to friendly countries—about a third of it to Italy and roughly another third to Canada, Greece, Japan, Britain and Mexico.

These figures show what benefits are received, but they do not show what amounts are paid by aliens in social security taxes or by employers on their behalf. The Williams proposal would relieve aliens of such taxes, though employers would make the same payments as now. Social security is a species of insurance, with income as well as expenditures.

Reports of the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund from January 1937 through June 1955 show receipts totaling more than $39 billion, including interest received, and benefit payments of more than $17 billion—leaving more than $21 billion credited to the fund after deducting administrative expenses.

Senator Williams does not propose to end present payments. He recognizes that "we cannot go back on the contract" made with these individuals. In citing examples of abuses and possible abuses by aliens, Senator Williams has performed a valuable service. The abuses should be stopped. If the law needs tightening or changing to prevent them, that should be done.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Old Order Passeth

Senator Walter George is not standing for re-election because the prospects for him are that in a contest with Herman Talmadge, he would be defeated. And so the old order passeth.

It does not mean that the new men are better or worse, more suitable or less; each generation goes its course and is followed by its descendants who usually speak a different accent and emphasize a point of view which reflects the young rather than the experienced and mature. The oldsters are often miserable over the stupidities of the youngsters, forgetting their own at the same age.

We are moving into the era of the men of the 30s, the men whose careers started in depression, fear, uncertainty, disappointment. Although many of them have succeeded in their various careers, they have not overcome the ugliness of those early, character-forming years. Most of them grew up in an environment in which their parents with unpalatable suddenness discovered that money did not grow on trees and that work in this country could be disappointing. None of them knew the pre-World War I era of peace and competition, when ambitions were terrific and youth was romantic even in its pessimisms.

Some of those who are now emerging were children during the shameless prohibition era and witnessed the corruption of a bacchanalia with its resultant disrespect for the law and particularly for the moral law and the sanctity of marriage and the home. This period in our history left ugly scars upon the generations which passed through it and left a statistic in its wake of broken homes and smashed mores which by the middle of the 1950s has become the principal social problem misnamed juvenile delinquency but really the rebellion of young children against home, church and school.

Politically, the newer generation seems to the older ones to have no standards, to seek short-cuts to personal success at the expense of society. Loyalty seems to be a forgotten quality. Some of the younger politicians appear like hot-rod-rushers hither and yon without direction and even without any purpose. In an era when to earn more money is only to increase one's taxes, politicians may not be as money corrupt as those who became millionaires in the Mark Hanna period, but they do appear to sell their souls and consciences for position, making deals, not with those who are building the country, but with those who are destroying it.

So one is often shocked by the relationship of a fairly conservative senator or judge or administrative official hobnobbing with Communists or racketeers in the hope of building a position for himself.

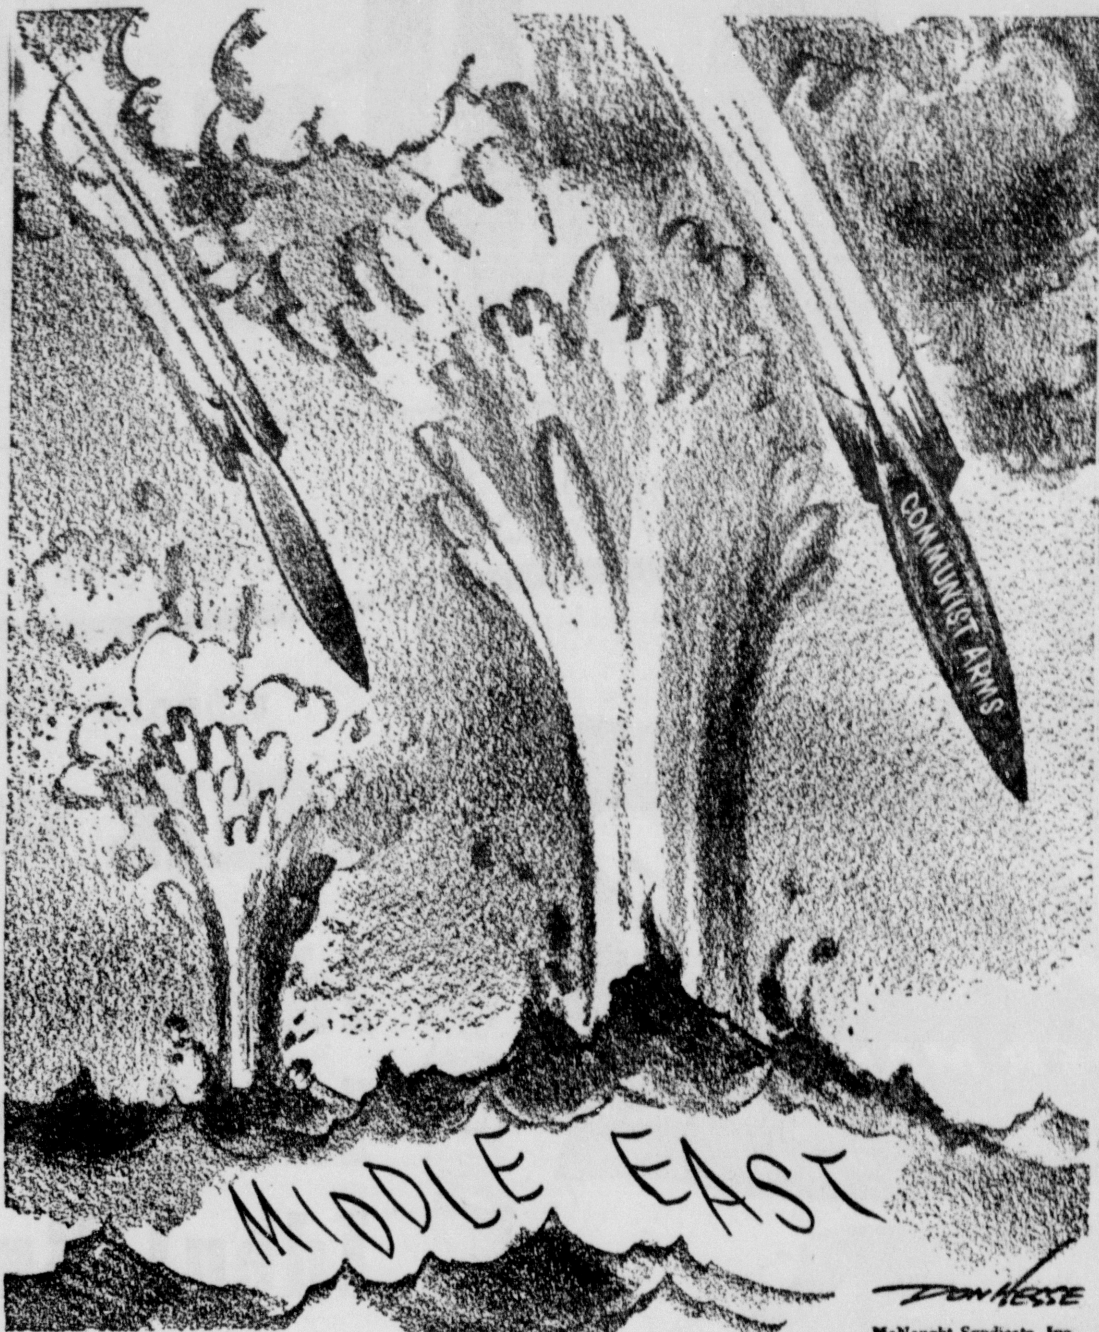

It has always been true that for a man to get on, he needed friends. And my memory goes back to the very beginning of this century in political operations and I recall the Tammany leader, Charlie Murphy, that when he got on, he had a man of the social set to teach him good manners. But it appears that currently it is regarded as more democratic to avoid manners about which there seems something prissy. Nevertheless, men are not physically as tough, as hard, as sure of themselves as they were in the days when newspapers were taken to the post office in a wagon drawn by horses and the policeman walked the beat and knew every man, woman and child by first name.

But it is stupid to suffer nostalgia for the good old days and to decry the present and the next generations. The good old days always are dead days; the best that can be remembered about them is about dead men and women. And although it is lots of fun to hear an old vaudeville sing "School Days," and "Shine on Harvest Moon," the children prefer something with a down beat that groans and moans and sounds as though they were suffering as they sing. Each to its kind until something better comes along, as it always does from somewhere or other.

So, Senator Walter George goes his way to an honorable position in NATO and his place will be taken by Herman Talmadge, whose father I met when he was governor of Georgia. The Senate will not be the same without Walter George, as it is not the same without Henry Clay and Daniel Webster and Robert A. Taft.

Keeping The Waters Troubled

Soviet Union's Army Cut May Not Mean Much

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — When the Soviet Union announces a "cut" of 1,200,000 men in her army, which in all totals at 5,000,000, it's the same thing as saying that henceforth a "reserve" of me, wearing civilian clothes will go on duty in the forced labor camps and in other projects of the government.

Recently returned visitors from Soviet Russia say it is difficult to tell where the army begins and ends — there are so many persons under the direct discipline of the government in the work camps and in the factories. The Soviets maintain quasi-military armies of "civilians" on duty throughout the country from the Baltic to the Pacific.

But it would be a mistake to assume that the Kremlin was actuated merely by a desire to deceive the Allies. There is probably a much more vital reason for the announcement, and that's internal. The unpopularity of military service throughout Russia is well known. The "cut" could be a move to placate sentiment internally, where the burdens of armament are beginning to cause concern to the rulers. For the Soviet people know that they could have more consumer goods if so much money and labor were not required for arms and munitions of war.

Official Reaction—Puzzlement

The official reaction here, not only in the executive departments but in Congress, is one of puzzlement. It is asserted that, if the "cut" were sincere, then it should have been possible for the recent talks in London on "disarmament" to have made more progress and that there would have been more interest shown by the Soviets in the President's plan for aerial inspection.

Undoubtedly the Soviet move has propaganda value. The present Communist line throughout the world is to picture Soviet Russia as desirous of peace, while pointing to the Allies and particularly the United States as placing an emphasis on "military alliances." It is odd how many Americans, including some critics of the administration in Congress, have swallowed this line and echoed the Communist criticism.

It is significant, on the other hand, that the secretary of defense, Charles E. Wilson, and Admiral Radford, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, are discovering that the only way to get the foreign-aid program through Congress is to emphasize its military aspects. There isn't any enthusiasm in Congress for foreign-aid expenditures which are not related to the defense of this country.

In testifying before a Senate committee that $3 billion of the $4.9 billion program is for military aid and a large part of the remainder is for economic aid to nations which furnish military defense to this country, Mr. Wilson said:

Radford Supports Wilson

"To cut military assistance materially at this time would present serious risks to the defense of the United States and the free world and would require a complete re-evaluation of our international position and of our own military budgets."

The defense secretary pointed out that America now is helping to support 200 divisions in Allied armies, which is a force "several times the strength of our own army."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We know several brands of co-existence that listen better than yo-yo strings on a Stradivarius. But don't forget the fate of the near-sighted fly that used a spider's web for lace curtains.

There's the lamb that bunks up with the lion for a roomie. It would work out better if there ever was lion stew on the menu.

Did you know that prairie dogs and rattler use the same village? Only rent the rattler pays is to swallow a landlord once in a while.

The other dogs chalk it off to profit and loss.

That's co-existence for some people and non-existence for others. One thing to remember about lip service is a couple of teeth go with it.

Co-existence is a beautiful view through rose-colored eyeglasses. It's an exquisite statue modeled in gelatin. Magnificent but shaky.

We still string along with Patrick Henry who judged the future by his law suits. And the past by doctor bills.

Senate Committeemen Leaned Over Backward In Questioning Chotiner

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Senate Investigating Committee was amazingly gentle when it delved into the law practice of Nixon's right-hand man, Murray Chotiner. Here is the mild-mannered cross-examination by senators when the name of Marco Reginelli, notorious czar of the South Jersey numbers racket and a Chotiner client, came before the committee.

"If he (Chotiner) was Reginelli's attorney at any time, I do not think we should force him to answer," said Sen. Joe McCarthy, who has hounded, scolded, bawled out scores of other witnesses when they shied away from answering.

"Am I right, Mr. Chairman?" he asked Sen. McClellan of Arkansas.

"Only to the extent that he was employed by him and the scope of his employment. No details," ruled the chairman, who in other cases has been fierce and unrelenting in his cross-examination.

Bob Kennedy, committee counsel, was not so mild. He tried to pin Chotiner down regarding any connection between Reginelli and the government uniform contracts which involved Chotiner's other clients, Kravitz and Abrams. But once again, Chairman McClellan came to Chotiner's defense.

"The chair will not require you to go further if you say that the government was involved and had an interest in the litigation or the subject matter of your being retained," he reassured Chotiner.

In other words, McClellan and his committee, for some strange reason, were interested only in the uniform contracts and not in other government matters handled by Chotiner.

Racketeer Reginelli

Yet Chotiner admitted that he had handled a deportation case for racketeer Reginelli, which certainly involved the government, and may well have involved influence-peddling. When committee counsel tried to develop how Chotiner had visited government officials to persuade or pressure them into not deporting Reginella, Sen. McCarthy objected.

"You're embarking on a fishing expedition," he told Kennedy.

However, this column can report the facts which Kennedy was not permitted to bring out.

Racketeer Reginella had been listed for deportation by Truman's Attorney General James McGranery. When Attorney General Brownell took over the Justice Department in 1953, Reginelli was still on the deportation list, and his attorneys were getting worried.

When the Democrats were in power, Reginelli had retained as his attorney the late Lemuel Schofield, former commissioner of immigration under Roosevelt. However, when the Justice Department, which has charge of immigration, shifted to the Republicans, Schofield went out to Los Angeles on behalf of Reginelli and had a visit with Chotiner. Obviously he felt that he needed a Republican with influence to handle the case of the New Jersey mobster. So he retained the close friend of Vice President Nixon.

The Immigration Service under both the Democrats and Republicans had wanted to deport Reginelli. To them it was a routine matter and politics should not be involved. As a matter of routine, the case went before the Board of Immigration Appeals and was heard February 11, 1954.

Chotiner Gets Busy

It was shortly after this that Chotiner got in his links at the Justice Department. Just what he did remains a mystery because Senators McClellan and McCarthy would not permit cross-examination. However, Counsel Kennedy drew out one fact—before he was stopped—that Chotiner had called at the Justice Department on behalf of Reginelli.

Whatever he said and whoever he saw, Chotiner was successful. For, after an amazingly long delay, from February 11 to December 14, 1954, the Board of Immigration Appeals handed down a decision in favor of the South Jersey racketeer.

It ruled that a conviction for violation of the Mann Act in 1942 was not moral turpitude. In so finding, the board went into a tortuous examination of the facts by which Reginelli had transported Mrs. Louise Abate from New Jersey to Florida. Although he had previously received a six-month sentence and $1,500 fine, the board ruled that this was not moral turpitude.

Reginelli already had one case of clear-cut moral turpitude against him, namely a conviction in 1926 for larceny, receiving stolen goods, and conspiracy to steal. But two moral turpitude cases are required to deport, and the Board of Immigration Appeals ruled that Reginelli's violation of the Mann Act in 1942 did not count.

These are some of the things which Senators McClellan and McCarthy would not let Dick Nixon's friend be examined on.

NOTE—Thanks to the above ruling in 1954, Reginelli was able to get American citizenship papers on June 21, 1955. The judge who granted him citizenship turned out to be the brother of one of the attorneys for black-listed uniform-maker Kravitz.

Merry-Go-Round

Senator "Scoop" Jackson of Washington, touted as a great district attorney, sat on the sidelines while McCarthy and McClellan protected Chotiner, and said nothing. . . . Most of the current books on the Eisenhower administration are pure pap. An exception is Richard Rovere's book, "The Eisenhower Years." He's the man who's been doing such a penetrating job in Washington for The New Yorker.

The Important Race

By Joseph Alsop

ARBIL, Iraq — Here in this strange land of Iraq, history already made is almost oppressively prominent. This city of Arbil, for instance, is none other than Arbela of the history books. Near here Alexander the Great inflicted defeat on Darius, great King of the Persians, who fled hence alone into the wilds of Khorrassan and there was murdered. But Arbil was already old when its people saw the Macedonian phalanx, for this is quite probably the most ancient inhabited place in the world. Throughout its span of countless centuries the little city has literally built itself up, out of the surrounding plain, on its own ruins. And the "modern" city walls (only a couple of hundred years old) spring from the dizzy verge of a man-made mesa a hundred feet in height.

Vastly Important

History has a trying way, however, of never coming to a halt. And here in this remote province of Northern Iraq, where the great King's golden - armored guard broke and fled before Alexander's spearmen, another battle is now being fought in the eternal struggle between East and West. Or perhaps it is more correct to say that a race is being run here, between the destructive effects of social change in this ancient land, and the constructive effort of the new Iraq's boldly conceived, oil financed development program.

The race is of vast importance, for Iraq, with its Western orientation, is the chief protection of the vital oil sources on which Britain, Europe and the Western Alliance squarely depend. If Iraq changes sides, the whole Western position in the Persian Gulf and even in Arabia will soon become untenable. It is the development program that is counted on to keep Iraq on a steady course.

Here, if you like, is history in the making in the most dramatic form. For the aim of the development program is nothing less than to undo the damage done by the heirs of Genghis Kahn, who found what is now Iraq a rich, well-irrigated land supporting a population of 25,000,000, and so ravaged the irrigation system with their battles that four-fifths of the people died of hunger. The very canals that may first have been traced out in the time of Hammurabi, the lawgiver of old Babylon, and were destroyed by Hulagu Khan or Timur the Lame, are now to be brought into use again. In the end, Iraq's total of productive acres is to be almost doubled.

Much Construction

Here in Arbil province, the life-giving waters of the Tigris and Euphrates are beyond reach, so no new acres will be opened for cultivation. But irrigation is only one part of the development program which is showing its effects in many ways hereabouts. The province has an energetic governor, Ishmael Hakki. All the flatland below the mesa, where modern Arbil is spilling out on to the plain, is dotted with Governor Hakki's construction projects. In one place, a new 300-bed hospital is slowly rising. In another is the headquarters of the German refugee doctor, whose mobile clinic is the first of three-motorized health units to serve the more remote villages. Several schools have already been finished. Two more are under construction. There is even a little park, where the suburban citizens take the air and schoolboys study their books.

All these are signs of change in a way of life that has hardly changed since the time of Timur the Lame. But there are other signs of change, too, of a very different nature.

The old system here is essentially feudal—so feudal that one of the provincial grandees used to murmur the warning, "I have 10,000 rifles," whenever the government in Baghdad seemed to disregard his wishes. But there was something very like a peasant uprising in Arbil province two years ago; and when this happened the government had to plead with the government for protection against those very rifles he once used as a threat.

Communist organizers inspired by the Tudeh party in Iran were in many of the villages then. There was a movement to take the land from the rich Agas who live in Arbil City. There was even one deputy in parliament from Arbil province with known Communist leanings. By a great deal of persuasion and some pretty sharp pressure, Governor Hakki set the province in order again. All is outwardly peaceful now.

Still Exist

All the same, beneath the surface, the pressures and the tensions still exist. The peasants still want the land the Agas own. There are still aspirations for better things that cannot easily be satisfied at once. And the development program is very slow, as all great programs must be—so slow indeed that five more years may pass before really large new farming acreages are opened to Iraq's people.

This makes the race between the forces of construction and the forces of destruction. I asked Governor Hakki who was likely to win, and he answered, "who can tell the winner of any race with real certainty?"

Elk Garden, Moorefield To Meet In Region 4 Playoffs

Elks Defeat Ft. Ashby To Cop Section

Win Over Eagles, 15-3; Martinsburg Downs Berkeley

Coach Paul Kalbaugh's Elk Garden Elks walloped Fort Ashby, 15-3, on the Eagles' diamond yesterday to capture the Section 16, Region 4 baseball crown and advance to the semi-final round play-offs against Moorefield High's Yellowjackets next Monday.

The triumph gave the Elks a 9-2 record for the season in Potomac Valley Conference play and enabled the Kalbaugh nine to edge Keyser for the title. In sectional play Elk Garden finished with a 7-1 mark while Keyser had a 6-2 record.

Martinsburg Wins, 8-4
Meanwhile at Charles Town Martinsburg High's Bulldogs trampled Berkeley Springs, 8-4, to win the semi-final play-offs between section 13 and section 14 winners in the region. Martinsburg will meet the winner of the Elk Garden-Moorefield clash in the finals for the Region 4 title.

Elk Garden snapped a 2-2 tie at Fort Ashby with an eight-run upsurge in the fourth frame in which 13 men went to the plate. Winning pitcher Tom Milavec garnered two hits in the inning in which the Elks hit safely six times.

Chaney bore the brunt of the Elks attack, giving up 20 hits in his six innings of mound work. Dwight Barnhouse, Ralph Shaffer, Tom Milavec and Paul Tasker each had three bingles with the former hitting a two-run homer in the first. Meadows had two of Fort Ashby's five base knocks.

Alexander Is Victor
Martinsburg jumped off to a four-run lead in the first inning and then held on to defeat Berkeley Springs in the regional play-offs.

Alexander, a southpaw pitcher, came in the third inning to pitch two hit ball over the final five frames to gain the victory in relief of Emmons. Ronnie Clatterbuck went the distance to taste defeat for Coach Allen Goldstrom's Berkeley nine.

The Bulldogs will meet the winner of the Elk Garden-Moorefield clash sometime next week for the title. Moorefield will host the Elks in the semi-final contest at 4 p. m. The lineups:

Field Reduced to Nine Horses For Preakness

Trainers Withdraw Ricci Tavi, Assorted

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—Probable opposition for Kentucky Derby winner Needles in Saturday's $100,000 Preakness was reduced today to eight by withdrawal of Assorted and Ricci Tavi.

Trainer Oscar Macky discovered belatedly that Llangollen Farm's Assorted suffered a sore leg after winning the Preakness prep Monday.

Ricci Tavi was second in the race, but his handlers decided he isn't ready for such a classic as the Preakness.

Trainer With Hope

Trainer Macky was brimming with hope over Assorted before a bowed tendon showed up.

The shrinking field only added to the confidence around the Pimlico barn of Needles where Trainer Hugh Fontaine turned to the weather for conversation.

"This crazy Maryland weather," said Fontaine, bundled up against the raw wind mixed with a spot of rain.

Was he worried about rain and mud for Saturday's $100,000 Preakness and the second stepping stone for Needles in quest of the triple crown?

"He can mud," reported Fontaine. "But I'd rather have a dry track. It's safer. Mud is no good for any athlete."

Fontaine was observed feeling the knees of Needles.

Was there a sign of fever which might cause some doubt of his prohibitive favoritism?

Ricci Tavi Not Ready

"No," assured Fontaine. "You'd get to find out before, if you can, if there's anything wrong with a horse before you ask him to do something. If you wait until after something happens, it's too late to do anything about it."

Christiana anything about Ricci Tavi, was withdrawn by Trainer Henry Clark. Although he is optimistic over Ricci Tavi's future, Clark said he isn't ready yet for a stern race against three- and six-year-olds. Ricci Tavi's conditioning was interrupted this spring by an attack of virus.

Dudey Does Well

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Dudey Moore, basketball coach at Duquesne University, has a record of 165 victories and only 51 defeats in the past eight seasons. Two of his players, Dick Ricketts and Sihugo Green, were All-Americans.

All-Star Game At Washington Is A Sellout

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The major league All Star baseball game was a sellout 21 hours after tickets went on sale.

The Washington Senators, hosts for the July 10 game, said a 100-foot pile of mail containing at least 25,000 applications had collected at their office by 9 a.m. EDT today.

"It won't do any good to get relations director," said Herb Heft, public relations director.

Griffith Stadium normally seats slightly more than 28,500 but some of the seats will be commandeered by sports reporters, broadcasters, telecasters and their crews. Only about 28,000 tickets will be sold.

Each applicant was permitted to ask for up to four tickets, so at the maximum 100,000 seats have been requested.

Box seats are selling for $6 each. Grandstand prices are $4 apiece and bleachers, $1.50. All seats are reserved.

Frank House Now

Majors Scramble To Cut Rosters As Deadline Passes

Cards Trade Alex Grammas To Cincinnati

Cleveland Gets Ward From Pirates; A's Sell Catcher Astroth

(By The Associated Press) The St. Louis Cardinals swapped Alex Grammas, their $100,000 reserve shortstop, and outfielder Joe Frazier to Cincinnati in return for utilityman Chuck Harmon yesterday as major league clubs hustled through last minute player shifts to meet the 25-man roster limit by the midnight deadline.

It was the second trade in six days by the Cards, with General Manager Frank (Trader) Lane juggling 10 players in the transactions.

The two-for-one swap left the Cards a man under their 26-player limit, which makes allowances for returned service men a Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell. Earlier in the day St. Louis pitcher Gordon Jones was sent to Omaha of the American Assn. on 24-hour recall.

Nixon Move Is Avoided

While the Cards got right with the roster limit, the Boston Red Sox had to re-appraise their player list after baseball Commissioner Ford Frick voided their move to put sore-arm pitcher Willard Nixon on the disabled list.

Frick made it plain he wasn't going "to put a guy on the list just because he has a sore arm."

The Cleveland Indians got down to their 26-man limit by trading catcher Hank Foiles to Pittsburgh for first baseman Preston Ward while sending catcher Earl Averill and infielder Bobby Young to Indianapolis of the American Association and selling pitcher Jose (Paints) Santiago to Kansas City. Averill was optioned, Young sold outright.

Kansas City was within the roster limit with the purchase of Santiago after giving veteran Elmer Valo his release and optioning pitchers Arnie Portocarrero (to Birmingham of the Southern Association), Bill Harrington (to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League) and Art Ceccarelli (to Columbus of the International League) while selling catcher Joe Astroth to San Diego.

White Sox Cut Down

Outfielder Ron Northey was optioned to Indianapolis and catcher Earl Battey and pitcher Bill Fischer were sent to Toronto of the International League, all on 24-hour recall, by the Chicago White Sox to get down to their 26-man limit. The Sox have to chuck a man by Saturday, however, when infielder Sam Esposito comes off the national defense service list.

The Detroit Tigers made the limit by optioning ex-bonus infielder Reno Bertoia to Charleston on the American Association. They also sold catcher Walt Streuli and pitcher Bud Black outright to Charleston.

The other American League clubs—New York, Washington and Baltimore—got within the limit early.

In the National, the Brooklyn Dodgers beat the deadline by shipping sore-arm southpaw Karl Spooner to St. Paul of the American Association subject to immediate recall.

Buccos Option Three

Pittsburgh, after dealing with the Indians, optioned righthanders Joe Trimble, Bob Garber and Bob Purkey to Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League. And Milwaukee optioned pitchers Bob Trowbridge and Humberto Robinson to Wichita of the American Association on 24-hour recall.

The Philadelphia Phillies hit the limit by sending pitchers Duane Pillette and Angelo Lipetri to Miami of the International League, also on 24-hour recall.

The Chicago Cubs and New York Giants put their rosters in shape a day early.

Layminster carried only 84 pounds when he won the 1910 running of the Preakness Stakes.

Robert Kiiffner Captures Columbia Street Mibs Title

Two Ex-Champs Are Among Losers

Two former champions fell by the wayside as Fifth Grader Robert Kiiffner shot his way to the 1956 marbles championship of Columbia Street School yesterday afternoon.

A field of 70 boys and three girls was reduced to four semi-finalists by two Columbia Street teachers, Samuel J. Lisanti and William L. Pugh. One girl, Donna Crabtree, was a ring winner in the preliminaries.

In the semi finals Donald Humbertson (1954 champ) defeated Melvin Van Meter (1955 champ) while Kiiffner won over Larry Peters. Kiiffner, a fifth grader, then took two straight games from Humbertson (7-6 and 7-5) to win the Columbia Street title and the right to shoot for the city championship June 5 at Gephart Playground, Frederick street. Peters was scorekeeper for the finals.

Virginia Avenue has constructed a model ring for today's finals at that school. The Johnson Heights finals are also scheduled today, with Centre St. and Humbird finals set for tomorrow.

Land Settlement Saves Trip To Snake Country

Jurors Breathe Sighs Of Relief

OAKLAND—A State Roads Commission condemnation suit was settled yesterday in Garrett County Circuit Court just before the jury was about to leave to make an on-the-scene inspection.

And the jurors and all others concerned breathed big sighs of relief, for their journey would have taken them over 24 acres of ground on Backbone Mountain along the new route of 135 from Bloomington toward Swanton.

For in that section, it was learned by the jury this morning, a large number of rattlesnakes were seen yesterday by State Roads survey parties.

The case was the State Roads Commission against the heirs of G. C. Patterson and Carroll Patterson.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., attorney for the Patterson heirs, said the case involving the 25 acres was settled for $6,725.

Whitworth said the state agreed to surface Wilson Road on the Patterson property linking the new road and the present road.

The settlement today involves only surface rights, and condemnation of coal beneath the 24 acres will be held when the grading of the new road is completed.

F. A. Puderbaugh, this city, and William Treacy, Oakland, were counsel for the State Roads Commission.

The Patterson property extends from the North Branch of the Potomac River to the top of Backbone Mountain.

Judge Affirms Four Decisions Of State ESB

One Case Taken
Under Advisement

Four decisions of the Maryland Employment Security Board were affirmed yesterday by Chief Judge George Henderson, who dismissed the appeals in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Henderson took another case under advisement because he wants to check further into it. He will file brief written opinions in all five cases heard yesterday.

The final appeal affirmed yesterday had been taken by Mrs. Dessie E. Shipley, 603 Central Avenue, by Attorney Donald W. Mason, against the Employment Security Board and McCrory's 5 and 10 cent store.

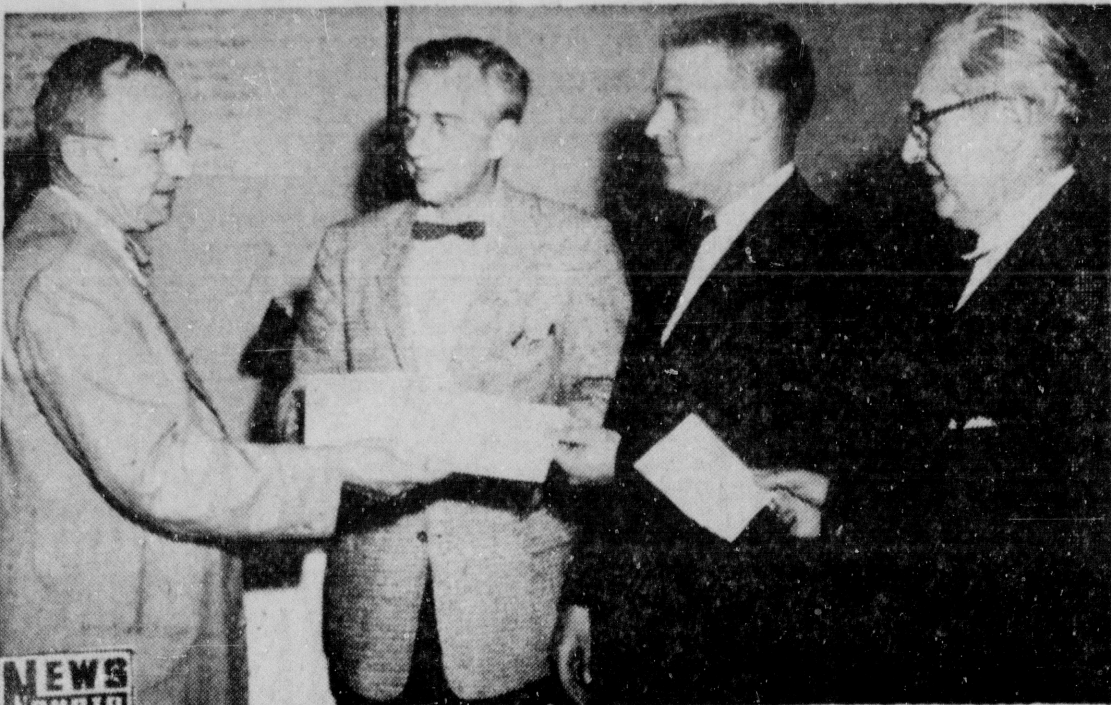

Mrs. Shipley had resigned her job with McCrory's because she did not have child care for her seven-year-old grandchild who lives with her. Child care was not a problem during the school year as a niece cared for the child after school hours but could not provide all day care.

She quit her job when she found McCrory's would not allow her to take a leave of absence during the summer months. Mason contended that the board's finding that Mrs. Shipley failed to accept suitable work when it was offered her last September after school resumed was unsupported by any substantial evidence. The board countered with the contention that the findings are supported by evidence and in the absence of fraud are conclusive.

Mildred Campbell, who had been denied unemployment compensation on the grounds that she was unavailable for work, was represented by Attorney Thomas N. Berry who stated that the grounds for the board's ruling was unwarranted, capricious and arbitrary.

Berry pointed out that the board seemed to make its ruling because of the fact that she was unable to appear at specified times at the local office although she had informed the local board that she was available for jobs.

James N. Phillips, who represented the Unemployment Compensation Board, said evidence presented revealed the woman

Md. GOP Wants Ober Law Again

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—The Republican State Convention adopted a resolution today urging that federal legislation be enacted which would restore Maryland's so-called Ober Law to the statute books.

The Supreme Court ruled recently that such anti-subversive laws on a state level were not valid.

The resolution prepared by a convention committee and adopted without discussion noted that the Ober Law had been "torn asunder" by the decision.

had removed herself from the local labor market, and that she had not made a reasonable effort to obtain employment.

Judge Henderson upheld the board's ruling and dismissed the appeal.

In dismissing the appeal taken by Russell Slider, Judge Henderson ruled that it is the duty of a claimant to prove that he qualifies for unemployment compensation, and not the duty of the board to prove that a person does not.

Slider, who resides in Cumberland, had been employed at the Fairchild plant in Hagerstown. His reason for applying for unemployment compensation was that he was forced to quit after the person he was riding to work with had been furloughed.

Phillips pointed out that Slider had offered different reasons at different times as to why he left the employment of the Fairchild firm. None of the reasons, Phillips argued was "good cause" for leaving the work, within the meaning of the law.

Also dismissed was the appeal by Floyd Wharton, who had applied for compensation after informing the local board that he was unable to return to his employment because he had to keep his children after his wife had left their home.

Judge Henderson dismissed the appeal, pointing out that Wharton had not availed himself of all opportunities for remaining employed. Taking care of his children might constitute good reason for leaving employment, but was not a legally good cause, the jurist pointed out.

Decision on the appeal taken by Alma R. Raley, also represented by Ryan, was delayed after Judge Henderson pointed out that it appeared the state board had apparently paid attention to hearsay evidence. He added that the power of the court was not too great in such cases, except in the power of the law.

The woman had quit her job at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant after claiming that new work she was transferred to was injurious to her health, and that help promised her by plant officials had not been forthcoming.

Phillips said no evidence had been presented to substantiate that her health was being impaired, and cited information by union representatives that she had not availed herself of the job protection which the union offered.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

A Model Secret

Here's a model's professional secret for preventing make-up from rubbing off on fresh white collars and necklines. Follow up application of tinted make-up with a powdering of ordinary talcum. This is also a wonderful help in keeping the décolleté of your evening gown free from make-up base.

When applying make-up to your face, continue down your neck (remember your neck is part of your face) and shoulders including as much of your skin as your costume will reveal. It is important to accent them with the same tones that complement your facial complexion.

Here is how we teach our Powers Girls a workable distribution of applying make-up. First place two dots on the forehead, three on each cheek, one on the nose and two under the chin. Then blend the foundation (cream or fluid bases) by using the finger pads of both hands in upward and outward motions (raise the elbows on a level with the shoulders). Always stroke from the center outwards. Don't fail to include the upper lip, under-eye circles and over-eye puffs. Omit only the eyelids. Brush the residue on the hands across the ears and into the hollows behind the ears.

So you won't spoil the perfection of your make-up be sure that your face and throat make-up blend smoothly at the jawline and under the chin. And remember put talcum powder over the entire made-up area. Pat it on generously with a large clean puff and remove the excess with a powder brush. Don't let any smudges of powder ruin the neckline of your evening gown.

Tomorrow — Think a beauty treatment.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 16 (INS)—The condition of Montgomery Clift, who was so seriously injured in an automobile accident, is much worse than any one admits. He has a minor brain concussion, he lost three teeth, and he has a fractured nose. However, Dr. Rex Kennamer says that plastic surgery will not be necessary because the bones in the nose were put in place immediately.

It will be three weeks at least before Clift can resume in "Rain-Tree County," and because he is in every scene it is necessary to shut down production.

Eva Marie Saint, who will be free until Clift is better, will attend the Palm Springs blowout celebrating Bob Hope's picture "That Certain Feeling."

Now that Anita Ekberg has arrived in Italy it can be revealed that she left word that there was not to be any publicity on the gifts she was taking to Anthony Steel. When he left here with gifts Anita gave him, customs men presented him with an itemized list taken from a newspaper, and it cost him $250 to get out of the country!

Steel also had to explain to English customs men where he got the money to pay for the big diamond engagement ring he gave Anita after the slightly exaggerated published accounts of the size of the gem.

At Romanoff's there was a bride and groom table with Marisa Pavian and Jean Pierre Aumont, the Greg Pecks and the Sy Bartletts. Same place, George Cameron and his bride were having dinner with Lee Anderson and John Gillian.

Later the Camerons went to the Mocambo, as did Patti Page and Charlie O'Curran. Sue Carson has been doing very well at the Mocambo, as she should—she's excellent.

Carroll Baker, whom Elia Kazan expects to emerge as a big star after his picture "Babylon Doll," is expecting a doll of her own in the fall. She is married to Jack Garfein, TV director.

The Oliva De Havilland—Pierre Galante baby is expected July 14, Bastille Day.

Now that Anita Ekberg has arrived in Italy it can be revealed that she left word that there was not to be any publicity on the gifts she was taking to Anthony Steel. When he left here with gifts Anita gave him, customs men presented him with an itemized list taken from a newspaper, and it cost him $250 to get out of the country!

Steel also had to explain to English customs men where he got the money to pay for the big diamond engagement ring he gave Anita after the slightly exaggerated published accounts of the size of the gem.

Butler Pledges All-Out Fight To Beat Tydings

Speaks At Md. GOP Convention

By HERB THOMPSON

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—Sen. John Marshall Butler took up the standard for the Republican party today and pledged an all-out fight against former Sen. Millard Tydings, the Democratic nominee, in Maryland's November election.

"I accept this nomination with great humility," he told the Republican State Convention which gave him all 152 unit votes from Maryland's recent primary election.

"In the coming campaign I will give the Republican party everything I have. I know it is going to take a monumental effort on the part of all of us. It's going to be a good fight and we all like a good fight."

Promises Victory

"We're going to fight hard, we're going to win and John Marshall Butler is going back to the U.S. Senate."

The convention thundered its approval and Butler excused himself to hurry back to Washington to vote on a bill which he called "very important to the Administration."

He said Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) minority leader, had called him just before he was to speak to say the Senate had recessed for an hour to await the return of Butler and Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) for vote on the Niagara power bill. Beall was serving as permanent chairman of the state convention.

Maryland's three Republican congressmen Reps. Edward T. Miller, DeWitt S. Hyde and James P. S. Devereux also had to return to the capital before the proceedings were over. Butler left his six-page acceptance speech to be read to the convention.

Butler's renomination and the election of a 24-member state delegation to the Republican national convention in San Francisco was the main business at today's convention, attended by 142 delegates elected in the May 7 primary and by national and state party bigwigs.

Speaker after speaker hammered at a theme of re-electing President Eisenhower and giving him a Republican senator and congressional majority from Maryland to work with.

"You've got a good team in Washington," Leonard Hall, chairman of the national GOP committee, said in his keynote address.

"We hope that you not only will return them . . . but please give us one or more (extra) seats in the House. We will need them."

Challenges Claims

He challenged claims that Democrats in Congress had better supported the Eisenhower program than had members of his own party.

"The record will show they have opposed the very vital parts of it," Hall said. "What has happened to his health program, school program, farm program?"

He said the Democratic leadership had opposed each of these to the dissatisfaction of their own rank-and-file and that this will help assure an Eisenhower victory in November.

Gov. McKeldin, who preceded Hall, told the convention that he was "fully confident" that Maryland would re-elect Butler and that "our chances are excellent" to increase Republican representation in the House where Democrats now hold a 4-3 edge.

Cites Demo Disunity

He said this could be done "if we wage the campaign, not alone on the basis of the President's popularity and ability, but on that of party responsibility and the importance of our party's organization of the House."

As for Butler's campaign, McKeldin said Republican chances should be enhanced "by the continuing bitterness" in Democratic ranks.

He said the party in Maryland is controlled by a "little ring of party dictators" who he said "blacklisted" George P. Mahoney and got Tydings to oppose him. Mahoney, now a four-time loser for statewide office, gained a 76-76 tie in nominating votes but lost last week's primary to Tydings on the basis of popular votes.

New Jaycee Officers Assume Their Duties

Kenneth J. Williams assumed duties last night as president of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at the meeting of the Board of Directors at Central YMCA.

Other new officers are Robert A. Mathews and Ronald J. Screen, vice presidents; Arthur S. Davis Jr., secretary; J. Brooke Fradiska, treasurer, and Oscar H. Lashley Jr., state director. Williams submitted an organizational arrangement for the Jaycees which will call for each of the eight directors who are not officers to serve as liaison men between the board and two or three committees.

Men Of LaSalle Plan Election This Evening

The annual election of officers of Men Of LaSalle will be held this evening during a meeting which will begin at 8 o'clock at Carroll Hall.

Norman Geatz, president, said last night that final plans for the Communion Breakfast on May 20 will be discussed. He urged all members to be present.

Rubber Railway Crossing Tested

W. B. Lee (kneeling, center), formerly of Cumberland, points out installation of rubber slabs on a Western Maryland Railway crossing to Allen E. Weber (right), Eastern railroad representative of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, manufacturer of the material. The railway is making its first test of the quiet, strong surfacing on the Park Lane crossing at Hagerstown, third in the world to be paved with it. If Western Maryland likes the new material, which engineers say shows no wear after two years in the other installations, it may become standard on the line. Lee, now division engineer at Hagerstown, was division engineer here on the Elkins Division from 1943 until 1951. He was transferred to Hagerstown in 1951.

Two Arrested In Theft Of Mine Wheels

Barton Residents Post $1,000 Bond

Two residents of Barton have posted $1,000 bond each for action of the October term of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the alleged theft of some 25 mine car wheels from an area coal company.

They are Raymond H. Montgomery, 43, and Leo Calvin Rigglesman, 47, who are accused of stealing the wheels from the Campbell Coal Company located between Barton and Franklin, and selling them to a junk dealer for $21.

The value placed on the wheels was $375, authorities said. After receiving a complaint that the wheels had been stolen from the firm, Tfc. Milton Hart checked a number of area junk yards and came across the wheels at Keyser.

He got a description of the car and other information from the owner and on Sunday arrested the two Barton men.

Authorities said Rigglesman was arraigned before Trial Magistrate Carl W. Shaffer in Westernport and Montgomery was given his preliminary hearing before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Bond for both the men was set at $1,000 each and they will be held for action of the grand jury. The two men were taken to the State's Attorney's office where statements were given to County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

County Reopens Poll Books For New Registrants

Will Continue Until Oct. 6

Allegany County residents who discovered too late that they were not registered so they could vote in the May 7 primary election may register beginning today so they can vote in the November 6 general election.

Registrars in the office of the County Board of Election Supervisors are reopening their poll books today, 10 days after the primary and will keep them open until Saturday, October 6, 30 days before the general election.

Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar, said that about 25 persons have come to the board's office since April 7 in a fruitless effort to register for voting. About 10 others contacted the board office by phone.

Those 35 and many others are expected to avail themselves of the opportunity of registering so they can vote in November. The office will be open from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until noon Saturdays.

State law requires registration in four communities outside Cumberland on the final four days for registering. Deputy registrars will sit simultaneously from 1 until 5 p.m. and from 6 until 8 p.m. October 3, 4, 5 and 6 at Mt. Savage, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westport.

A schedule of registration in other small communities around the county will be prepared, probably for the last week or so in September.

When the poll books closed April 7, 30 days before the primary election, Allegany County had 38,194 registered voters. Among them were 21,618 Republicans, 16,319 Democrats, 238 independents, 17 Socialists and two members of other parties.

Few Teaching Vacancies Listed

Now that the school year is drawing to a close, Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster reports that comparatively few vacancies will need to be filled for the term starting in September.

At last check there will be only 28 teachers, less than five per cent of the total, to be replaced. They include those who have resigned to accept other positions, those who are taking leaves of absence for maternity and other reasons, and those who are retiring.

To fill a number of those 28 vacancies, Webster will have a group of teachers who will be returning from leaves of absence.

Demo Convention Will Be May 28

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—T. Barton Harrington, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, has called the party's state convention for 2 p.m. Monday, May 28 in a downtown Baltimore hotel (The Emerson).

Harrington announced the convention date last night after conferring with party leaders, including Mayor D'Alesandro of Baltimore, former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. and former Sen. Mildred E. Tydings, the Democratic nominee for the Senate.

The Associated Press reported incorrectly that the convention would be next Monday, May 21. The correct date for the convention is Monday, May 28.

Silver Spring Trio Indicted In Holdup

HAGERSTOWN, May 16 (AP)—Three Silver Spring high schoolers who said they staged an attempted robbery of a local bank as a "joke" were indicted by the Washington County Grand Jury today.

The three — Michael Bird, 16, Daniel G. Hummel, 16 and William A. Blomgren, 17, all students at Montgomery Blair High School in Silver Spring—were indicted on charges of "conspiracy to rob" the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. here last April 7.

They will be arraigned at 10 a.m. tomorrow before Circuit Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin and are expected to be brought to trial within the next two weeks.

All three youths contended at a preliminary hearing that the attempted holdup was a prank, concocted "just for kicks" to get rid of "pent-up energy" after their car broke down and they failed to make a Sunday School basketball tournament in Cumberland.

Blomgren was president of the senior class in high school at the time but since resigned the office. The youths have been free under bail of $1,000 each.

A teller in the bank told police Bird handed her a note which read: "This is a stickup. Keep quiet. Hand over $1,000. I may be small but so is the little piece of lead in my pocket."

The teller, Mrs. Neva Shannon, said she asked him if he was joking but received no answer.

A customer in the bank walked up behind Bird and pinned his arms until police arrived, according to testimony at the preliminary hearing.

All three boys said they got the idea for the "joke" while in the Western Union office wiring their folks for money to pay for car repairs.

The note given the bank teller was written on a telegram blank.

Cancer Crusade Now Tops $5,544

Some $5,544.67 has been turned in to headquarters for the Allegany County Cancer Crusade and William Walsh, general chairman, expressed a hope that all contributions can be submitted and the campaign terminated by Friday, May 25.

Walsh has predicted that total collections will exceed $6,000 but has expressed disappointment at the slow returns in special gifts contributions.

At the start of the Cancer Crusade some 170 special gift letters were sent with a request for contributions and a reminder that a member of the campaign committee would call upon them for their contributions. So far only 27 or not quite 16 per cent of the 170 have made their contributions.

Another 500 letters with return envelopes also were mailed out from campaign headquarters in the Union Street County Building. They asked that contributions be sent to headquarters. As of yesterday afternoon only 111 or 22.2 per cent had returned contributions.

The funds collected in the Lonaconing area last Saturday have not yet been submitted to campaign headquarters.

Walsh urged all who wish to make contributions to do so as soon as possible so that the drive can end by May 25.

Civil Defense Staff College Begins Today

Leaders To Get Special Training

A Civil Defense staff study course for Allegany County volunteers will be held today and tomorrow in the conference rooms of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company plant here.

According to William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense here, this is the first county in Maryland where such a staff college has been attempted.

Polio Shots Should Continue

Continuation of poliomyelitis inoculations throughout the coming summer is recommended by the Maryland State Department of Health and the Baltimore City Health Department, it was announced yesterday. This recommendation includes both first and second injections.

Pontoonment of the third (or booster) injection is still urged until sufficient vaccine has become available to provide two injections to all children in the eligible age group (one through 15 years) whose parents wish them to have it. An announcement regarding third inoculations will be made later.

The decision to continue the vaccination program throughout the summer was made after careful consideration of the recommendations of the United States Public Health Service and the infectious diseases committee of the Association of State and Territorial Health Officers and after consultation with the Maryland Technical Advisory Committee on Poliomyelitis Vaccine.

It is the unanimous judgment of the groups consulted that the advantages of continuing inoculations throughout the summer far outweigh the disadvantages.

At the present time the prospects for an increasing supply of vaccine are good. Parents are urged to consult their physician with reference to the vaccination of children of eligible age.
